Project Overview

The main aim of this project was to conduct a comprehensive analysis of key performance metrics associated with customer acquisition, revenue generation, and policy effectiveness. I have developed an interactive dashboard that elegantly visualizes these insights, empowering the company to make informed, data-driven decisions.

Objectives

- Monthly Revenue and Customer Acquisition Analysis
- Track Daily Revenue and Customer Growth Trends
- Evaluate Insurance Policy Performance
- Perform Age Group Segmentation
- Apply Filters for Detailed Analysis

Key Insights

Delhi NCR has emerged as the leading market in terms of sales, while Indore has recorded the lowest sales figures among the cities analyzed.

The 31-40 age group leads in both revenue contribution and total customer count, while the 18-24 age group contributes the least revenue.

The Offline-Agent sales mode generates the highest revenue and customer count, whereas the Online-Website sales mode contributes the least in both categories..

March 2023 recorded the highest revenue, while November 2022 had the lowest.

Recommendations

Improve Online Sales: Enhance the user experience and marketing strategies for the Online-Website sales mode to boost its performance.

Youth Engagement: Create strategies to engage the 18-24 age group, potentially through digital channels and social media, to increase their revenue contribution.

Seasonal Promotions: Implement targeted promotions and campaigns in months with historically low revenue, such as November, to balance out the revenue distribution.

Agent Training and Support: Continue to invest in training and support for offline agents to maintain their high performance and customer acquisition rates.

Agent Training and Support: Continue to invest in training and support for offline agents to maintain their high performance and customer acquisition rates.
